Synopsis

An uptight lawyer, Lenny Rubins, (Timothy Spall – The King's Speech), has to put his dream retirement on hold when his ailing mother (Honor Blackman – Goldfinger) emotionally blackmails him into reuniting his estranged children for a holiday gathering.

They may be peas from the same pod, but in Lenny's eyes, his grown-up children are certainly not even from the same planet: a ruthless control-freak and hard-nosed capitalist (James Callis – Battlestar Galactica), an outspoken, argumentative eco-warrior committed to the cause (Rhona Mitra – Underworld: Rise of the Lycans), an outer-worldly Buddhist Monk; and to cap it all, a bible bashing born-again Rabbi!

While they might quarrel, fight, and perhaps even be starting a war in Africa, they are still family. It is going to take a whole lot of soul-searching and sacrifice for everyone to come together in this heart-warming and comic family reunion that will have you thinking fondly of your own.

QUOTES

"What a delightful film!!! Poignant, funny, wistful, and a joy!" - Jeffrey Lyons/LYONS DEN RADIO

"A terrific ensemble cast makes "Reuniting The Rubins" a funny, warm, touching film for any season."

- Michael Berlin, Sneak Previews

"The inevitable fireworks provide plenty of laughs. Factor's directorial debut has moments of brilliance." - DCFilmReview.com

"REUNITING THE RUBINS is a rare find for a Jewish film festival—a good comedy. However, you don't have to be Jewish to like the film! It is a charming, entertaining and a humorous look at those family relationships that push and tug at us all."

- Susan Barocas-Director, Washington Jewish Film Festival

"Reuniting the Rubins proves once and for all, that the best antidote to dysfunctional family-relations, is good old-fashioned comedy. A must-see film for anyone who's survived the quintessential family gathering--- and lived to talk about it!"

- Amy R. Handler, Film Threat

Short version

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

Inspired by American Indie cinema that brought us "Little Miss Sunshine", and "About Schmidt" and life-affirming Brit comedy pics such as "The Fully Monty" I set out to make a truly uplifting feel-good movie that balanced the glory of American sentimentality with the sharpness of dry British wit. The result: "Reuniting The Rubins"; a roller-coaster of emotions, from laughter to tears, in tackling the trials and tribulations of family life set against the modern day challenges of living in a hi-tech global village.

Have we entered into a self-focused everyone-for-themselves age where community could be an endangered species unless we're willing to forego an element of our selves for the greater good? Maybe we can not change the world, or even our families, but if we start on ourselves, maybe we can inspire the rest to follow.
