TAKE ME HOME

SYNOPSIS

TAGLINE

Little does NYC cab driver Thom Colvin know that when an attractive lady hops into his cab and says take me to California, that their journey winding across America will become the adventure, and misadventure, of their lifetimes.

50 WORD SYNOPSIS

With both their lives in ruins, NYC cab driver Thom Colvin (Sam Jaeger) agrees to drive his new passenger (Amber Jaeger) to see her ailing father...in California. Winding across America, Thom and Claire must choose between the lives they've left behind, and the possibilities glimpsed in their journey together...

100 WORD SYNOPSIS

Thom (Sam Jaeger) isn't having a good day. With no job and no place to sleep, Thom turns to his last resort: driving his illegal taxicab around the streets of New York.

Fortunately for him, Claire (Amber Jaeger) isn't having a good day, either. After discovering her husband cheating and her estranged father is dying, Claire lands in Thom's cab. With both their lives in ruins, Thom and Claire agree to drive to California.

With detours through mountains, deserts and hometowns, Thom and Claire must choose between the lives they've left behind and the possibilities glimpsed in their journey together...

250 WORD SYNOPSIS

Thom Colvin (Sam Jaeger) isn't having a good day. After getting shot down by a photography agency, he comes home to find his landlord evicting him. With no job prospects and no place to sleep, Thom must turn to his recurring last resort: driving his illegal taxicab around the streets of New York.

Fortunately for him, Claire Barrow (Amber Jaeger) isn't having a good day, either. She's found her husband flirting with his new secretary, and discovered her estranged father has suffered a heart attack in California. In a frenzy, Claire runs out and hails what she assumes to be a cab. What she gets instead...is Thom.

With her life in ruins, Claire decides on a whim to make Thom drive her out to California. With nothing in New York to call his own, Thom reluctantly agrees.

With detours through mountains, deserts and even visits with the parents (played by Victor Garber, Cristine Rose, and Lin Shaye), Thom and Claire draw closer. What awaits them in California forces them to choose between the lives they've left behind, and the possibilities glimpsed in their journey together...

QUOTES

"Pure magic. The Best romantic comedy I've seen in years!" -Amy R. Handler, Film Threat

"The film was fantastic on every level." - Examiner.com

"Once and awhile, a film comes out of nowhere and knocks your socks off... funny without every trying to be funny and heartwarming" - BigVisionEmptyWallet.com

"Has the makings of a romantic comedy goldmine" - Sight on Sound

"Take Me Home is part romantic comedy and part road movie. Fans of either genre will find themselves enchanted with the chemistry between the two and the sincerity of its charm."
- TheScorecardReview.com

"Truly engrossing and definitely funny... this indie is so good that I expect it will be one of hits of 2012." - Napa Valley Register

"The film is funny, unpredictable, touching, beautifully paced - and extremely well-made. I predict it will be Hollywood's next My Big Fat Greek Wedding, the dark horse to come from behind. Take Me Home is a revelation." - Connect Savannah

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

Movies for me have always been about transportation: to a new time, unfamiliar places, and wholly new experiences. When we're transported, we seldom return unchanged. These events shape us in ways we couldn't imagine. This is why I spent seven years on Take Me Home. It's a story about two people who leave all the familiarities of their life, venture into the unknown, and return from their experiences transformed. It's about how we react when we're stripped of our habits: how frightening that can be, but more importantly how renewing it ultimately is.

With the backdrop of the American landscape, the congestion of New York City, the rolling plains of the midwest, the blinding expanse of the desert and the west's rejuvenating coastlines, Take Me Home is a film about making time to look around at where we are in life. Sometimes we're too far down the road. Sometimes we're stuck in the past. The transformation Claire and Thom go through together in Take Me Home, toward releasing their expectations and learning to simply be, are changes I continually strive for in my own life.

For me, this film is a reminder to let things go. I hope it does the same for those willing to come along for the ride.

PRODUCERS' BIOGRAPHIES

JANE KELLY KOSEK

Jane is an independent film producer and co-founder of Wonder Entertainment. In 2011, Jane produced the short documentary Pipe Dreams. In 2010, Jane produced the Starz documentary Industrial Light & Magic: Creating the Impossible and the romantic drama The Diary of Preston Plummer, starring Trevor Morgan and Rumer Willis. In 2009, Jane produced the romantic comedy Take Me Home, starring Sam Jaeger and Amber Jaeger, which world-premiered at the 2011 Nashville Film Festival. In 2007, Jane produced the romantic drama Not Since You, starring Desmond Harrington, Kathleen Robertson and Christian Kane. Jane also executive produced Tennessee, starring Mariah Carey, which had its World Premiere at the 2008 Tribeca Film Festival. Other titles that Jane has produced include the first adaptation of a Thomas Ligotti short story titled The Frolic, the micro-budget thriller Fierce Friend, and the drama Straight Line, which premiered at the 2005 South by Southwest Film Festival. Prior to producing, Jane worked with Academy Award-winning screenwriter and producer Akiva Goldsman on numerous studio productions.

MICHAEL HOBERT

Michael's knowledge and ingenuity helped pave the way for one of the industry's emerging creators. Currently working on his show "Uncle Mike" for Warner Brothers Studios, which he co-created alongside his brother Tim, Michael has worked on production in almost every capacity – writing, producing, directing, acting, editing, sound and production design. Involved in the film business since 1997, Michael co-wrote and produced the short film "Advantage Hart" starring Kate Bosworth. Michael then attended USC School of Cinema and graduated with a B.A. in Film Production. This is Michael's second collaboration with Sam Jaeger, and the two are currently writing a new screenplay to follow up Take Me Home.
